Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 27 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Wet and windy at times and feeling much cooler.

Today:
Heavy rain and strong winds clearing quickly by mid-morning, leaving sunshine and blustery showers, some of these heavy. It will feel significantly colder than it has done recently, especially in any showers and when exposed to the wind. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers continuing through the evening and night, particularly around coastal areas where it remains breezy. Winds lighter inland, and here clear spells will develop. A significantly cooler night than recently. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tuesday:
A cool day. Some early sunshine, but further showers developing and remaining breezy. More persistent rain is likely at times, particularly around midday and into the evening. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Drier and sunnier on Wednesday after early showers. Further wet and windy weather for both Thursday and Friday. Temperatures remaining significantly cooler.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.